FAKEAWAYS!

The Works this week has yet again been showing us foodies how it's done! All week, pupils from all sites that visit and engage in catering as their choice of vocational study (something of a fan favourite) have been tasked with emulating the take away industry; creating their own 'Fake-away' meals from the ground up! So we're talking Bolognese, pizza with a classic tomato sauce base (none of this BBQ base nonsense) and a classic fake-away Big Mac! Both Mr Hunter and Jo from the Hub got in on the action too! Yes, perhaps they both went a little too far in a few places (we just really like cheese okay?) and yes, someone forgot to add the yeast (ahem, I wanna say it was Jo but...)... but who doesn't like a big fat pizza biscuit anyway? Check out some of the photos below and tell me we shouldn't open a restaurant!
