

SUNSHINE WELL SPENT! - ARTICLE

With winter no longer coming, the weather this week has proven just that...

Yes, the sun was shining, and Meadowcroft's Gallery had no intention of putting it to waste! And so, Conkers class embarked on their very own fossil excavation lesson (again, cue John Williams' score please), as part of their historic exploration of the dinosaur era!

Meanwhile Miss Cunnane and Warren simply enjoyed basking in the sun's rays whilst playing countless rounds of Uno (which certainly did wonders for their ability to keep track of whose go it was...). Finally, Brandon and Keiron set about mastering their botany skills; the only thing capable of rivalling Brandon's sheer speed digging was the rapidity of Kieron's incessant enquiries.... "If I eat this seed, will it grow in my belly?" Fortunately not Keiron, fortunately not. Certainly a week to remember!
